

NEW RULING IS GIVEN BY P. S. C. ON "CARRIERS"

Findings Affect Local Residents Who Carry Friends to Capital.

WILL CONTINUE SERVICE HERE

The practice of numerous residents of Gettysburg and Adams county, who transport fellow workmen from the county to Harrisburg and elsewhere for pay, does not place them in the category of common service carriers, according to a statement issued today by the state public service commission.

The Gettysburg and Harrisburg transportation company has brought to the commission's attention the daily transportation of local residents to Harrisburg for pay. Officials of the transportation company complained that such service competes with buses operated between Gettysburg and the Capital city.

175 Carriers Protest
The local transportation company was one of 175 such common carriers throughout the state who protested to the public service commission the daily transportation of residents from one town to another for pay.

D. J. Forney, manager of the Gettysburg and Harrisburg company, said the legislature next January will be asked to revise regulations regarding common carriers so as to include the class not now affected.

Commission's Statement
The following statement, concerning the situation protested against by common carriers, follows:

"No person may haul passengers as a common carrier between points in Pennsylvania without a certificate of public convenience from The Public Service Commission.

"A common carrier is a person who will haul for pay any passengers whose desire to ride with him at the time he is willing to make a trip. Whether this is true as to any particular carrier can be determined only in a formal proceeding.

Free Rides
"A person who transports passengers and receives no compensation for such transportation is not a common carrier.

"A person who has permanent arrangements with one or two persons by which he takes them to work with him, or takes them to the school which he is attending, is probably not a common carrier, even though he receives pay from them.

"A person who carries a large number of passengers with him, or carries different persons each day, and receives pay for the service, is probably a common carrier. This can be definitely determined only if a complaint is filed against him, and after a hearing before the Commission.

Possible Complaints

"Such complaint is not likely to be filed unless the passengers are transported along the line of some bus company or rail carrier which would receive the business if the persons were not carried in private cars.

"No more definite statement can be issued in advance of formal proceedings, as the Commission cannot prejudge a case which may come before it for determination on complaint."

FATHER WHALEN REFUSES TO TOUR

A lecture bureau has just proposed a coast-to-coast tour for Father Will Whalen, asking him to tell the U. S. A. about Mary Jamison, white squaw. The salary offered goes up into four figures per month.

Father Whalen replied that he'd sooner stay home and take care of his mountain parishioners. He's done with traveling.

"When I travel these days," said the priest-author, "I send somebody else to do it for me. My three act play about Mary Jamison will tour this season, just as soon as the times warrant it."

"There'll be a Mary Jamison postage stamp in a year or so, after the post office gets its decks cleared away. So 'Our Mary' will flit all over the face of our country. Ay, Mary's effigy will reach even Europe."

$15,000 SUIT FOR DAMAGES STARTED HERE

William W. Cashman Is Plaintiff in Action Against O. C. Livingston.

IS RESULT OF CRASH APRIL 8

An action in trespass seeking $15,000 damages was instituted in common pleas court here today by William W. Cashman, a teacher, of Hamilton township, against O. C. Livingston, also of Hamilton township, as the result of an automobile accident on the East Berlin-Abbottstown road, April 8, 1934.

According to the plaintiff's statement of claim, filed by W. Clarence Sheely, Esq., of Gettysburg, Cashman was traveling south on the highway as Livingston drove out onto the highway from a lane at his farm.

As a result, Cashman said he swerved his car sharply to the left, lost control of the machine and it crashed into a tile silo on the defendant's farm. The plaintiff alleges that Livingston came out onto the highway without giving a warning and "without due regard for the rights of users of the highway."

Cashman's statement further stipulates that he suffered a compound fracture of the right arm above the elbow, cuts on the face and neck and contusions of the body. He alleges he was a patient in the Hanover General hospital from the time of the accident until May 16 and then was confined to his home for two weeks.

The plaintiff avers that his right elbow has been stiffened as a result of his injuries and that he suffered permanent and disfiguring scars on the face and neck.

Cashman complains that as a result of the accident he was unable to teach for two months and was unable to follow his customary summer occupation as laborer. He avers that he receives $220 a month as a teacher and $90 a month as a laborer.

The plaintiff sets forth that as a result of the accident, he was compelled to pay hospital and medical bills aggregating $283; $25 for towing his wrecked car from the scene of the accident and that his car, valued at $685, was a complete and total wreck.

$840 IN RANSOM MONEY IS FOUND BY POLICE TODAY

Dismantle Hauptmann Garage to Uncover Bills; Find Automatic.

GERMAN ALIEN IS INDICTED

New York, Sept. 26 (AP).—A Bronx county grand jury today indicted Bruno Richard Hauptmann on a charge of extortion as the alleged receiver of the $50,000 Lindbergh ransom.

The indictment was handed up to Supreme Court Justice Charles B. McLaughlin in the Bronx county building in less than an hour after the grand jury had returned from a luncheon recess.

At the morning session, the grand jury had heard from Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh his own story of his futile attempt to ransom his kidnapped son two and a half years ago by the payment of $50,000 through Dr. John F. Condon, the "Jafsie" of the negotiations, to a supposed emissary of the kidnappers in St. Raymond's cemetery in the Bronx.

Find More Money

New York, Sept. 26 (AP).—Additional Lindbergh ransom money was found today in the garage of Bruno Hauptmann as Colonel Lindbergh was before a grand jury telling his story of the futile negotiations to ransom his kidnapped son.

The money, $840, in four rolls of bills, was found stuffed in four holes in a board in the garage and in a fifth hole was an automatic pistol fully loaded and apparently of German make.

Police dismantling the garage immediately rushed the money and the pistol to the Bronx county building, where it was taken before the grand jury. Previously police had found $13,750 of the bills in the same garage.

A photograph was taken from the Hauptmann home to the district attorney's office and Charles F. Brodie, chief clerk to the Bronx district attorney, said he believed two twenty-dollar ransom notes had been found in it.

Lindbergh was in the building thirty minutes and it was reported he actually spent 17 minutes before the grand jury.

Heavy Police Detail

Within three minutes after he arrived in the crowded street before the building, with its unusually heavy police detail of 2300 officers, the colonel had ridden in a public elevator that had been reserved for him to the eighth floor.

There, some 50 policemen formed a double line for the flier's short walk to the grand jury's ante-room.

Attorney General Homer S. Cummings conferred on the kidnap case with Francis X. Fay, head of the New York bureau of investigation of the department of justice and in answer to an inquiry as to whether he believed "Hauptmann was the right man" said he "didn't know anybody doubted it."

RETURNS AFTER LONG ABSENCE

Shippensburg Woman Gone 19 Years and Pronounced Dead, Regains Estate.

Shippensburg — Nineteen years ago Mrs. Myrtle A. Stevick disappeared from her home at 53 East King street, Shippensburg, without a trace.

Five years ago the woman was declared legally dead and the estate turned over to her son.

One day last week Mrs. Stevick walked into the home of her brother, Oscar Martin, hale and hearty. She is about 50 years old.

Had Been in Ohio 8 Years

Mrs. Stevick did not reveal where she had been or why she had let all the nineteen years pass with no word from her. She said she had been working in Ohio for the last eight years and then just decided to come home.

When she disappeared on May 15, 1915, no reason was given for the act and authorities sought in vain for some trace of the woman. Year after year passed with no word from Mrs. Stevick and with no clues to her wanderings.

On July 9, 1929, E. M. Biddle, Jr., then judge of Cumberland county courts, signed the decree declaring the woman legally dead.

Son Receives Estate

Mrs. Stevick had a considerable estate left to her by both her father and mother. Letters were issued to her son, Edwin C. Stevick on May 27, 1930.

Monday the son's attorney walked into the courthouse and filed a release signed by the son, turning the estate back to his mother.

Since her return Mrs. Stevick has moved from the home of her brother to the home of her sister in Shippensburg. Her husband, Edwin C. Stevick, also lives in Shippensburg.

Mrs. Stevick would not permit herself to be interviewed concerning her wanderings nor her plans for the future since she has regained her estate. She is still "legally dead."

BRAND POLICE PICKET KILLERS

Coroner, in Arkansas, S. C., Says He Will Issue Murder Warrants.

Anderson, S. C., Sept. 26 (AP).—Blame for the death of three of the seven pickets killed at Honea Path on September 6 was placed upon eleven town policemen and non-strikers Tuesday night by a coroner's jury.

The jury reported that four of the victims of the bloodiest clash of the textile strike came to their deaths from wounds inflicted "by a party or parties unknown."

Coroner J. Roy McCoy, of Anderson county, announced he would issue warrants charging murder against the three municipal policemen and eight non-strikers who were reputedly acting as special officers.

McCoy said the warrants would be served "the first thing in the morning."

The jury reached its decision after one hour and sixteen minutes' deliberation and a fifteen-minute recess to hear Solicitor Rufus Fant define the word "riot."

The same eleven men were named as responsible for the deaths of Lee Cranford, R. T. Yarbrough and E. M. Knight, all of Honea Path.

The jury found that C. L. Rucker, Ira Davis and Claude Cannon, all of Honea Path, and Maxie H. Peterson, of Greenwood, were killed by unidentified persons in the course of the clash at Chiquola Mill.

To Charge Murder

Coroner McCoy said the warrants would charge murder on the part of Chief George Page, Charles M. Smith and E. T. Kay, of the Honea Path police force, and Lawrence Smith, Robert Calvert, Claude Campbell, Tom Staicup, James Smith, Floyd Smith, Rob Smith and Lewis Bratcher.

Those present at the party included Miss Grace Butt, Mrs. Charles Ogden, Mrs. H. S. Fox, Mrs. Stevig, Mrs. Robert Deardorff, Miss Janice Harbach, Gladys Ohler, Grace Smith, Mary Cook, Marion Menchey, George Raffensperger, Edgar Raffensperger, Ida May Moore, Dora Rohrbach, Anna Louise Jennings, Marion Jennings, Emma Lower, Naomi Dayhoff, Dorothy Dayhoff, Ardie Fox, Billy Ogden, Nancy Ogden, Billy Snyder and Helen Cook.

DOUMERGUE TO SEEK REFORMS

Premier of France Shocks Country With Suggestions.

Paris, Sept. 26.—France is electrified by a realization that Premier Gaston Doumergue, when he went over the head of parliament in his address Monday night and appealed to the voters to support his epochal four-point constitutional reform bill, has actually proposed the most important changes in the nation's governing machinery that has ever been attempted since the Third Republic came into existence sixty-four years ago.

Not only has the premier outlined a plan which, if adopted, would end France's kaleidoscopic procession of six-months-old cabinets and would offer to French governments a stability somewhat akin to those in Great Britain; he also has definitely thrown down the gauntlet to the Marxian parties, socialists and communists alike.

Ends Parliamentary Truce

In the opinion of many, although M. Doumergue heads a so-called "Truce Cabinet," his audacious and challenging speech has ended the parliamentary truce.

It now seems assured that, when the chamber of deputies reconvenes a month from now, a great and decisive political battle will immediately begin, with constitutional reform, the economic crisis, the high cost of living and the future status of the franc as paramount issues.

Mixed up with this will be the left wing parties' fight for dominance and it is broadly hinted that, if the chamber refuses to support the premier's reforms, he may demand parliament's dissolution and carry the issue to the people.

Pals Killed in Reunion

Morgantown, W. Va., Sept. 26 (AP).—Steve Yendrek and George Kovich were boyhood pals in a little town in Europe, years ago. Before Steve was out of his teens he set out to make his fortune in the United States. George followed a little later.

The years rolled by but they never saw each other again until Tuesday. They met near Scotts Run, a mining settlement. George works there, and Steve was visiting from Walnut, Pa., where he is a miner, too.

All day long they celebrated and then, weary, sat down on the railroad tracks to talk over old times. They did not see a locomotive thundering down the tracks. The engineer looking out of his cab saw the two, each with an arm around the other's shoulder. The whistle shrieked. But these two old-timers seeing each other the first time in more than a score of years, still did not hear.

Both were killed.

LONG BEATEN IN COURT TILT

Jurist Refuses to Allow Claim And Orders Opponent's Name on Ballot.

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 26 (AP).—Senator Huey P. Long's ordered second primary for Third district member of the Louisiana supreme court was ruled against Tuesday in district court here while the Kingfish was stumping the district in behalf of his candidate, John B. Fournet, lieutenant-governor.

Judge W. Carruth Jones after a lengthy hearing dismissed the exceptions to the claims of Judge Thomas F. Porter, of Lake Charles, to the democratic nomination and ordered E. A. Conway, secretary of state, to recognize Judge Porter as the nominee and to place his name on the ballot for the November general election.

Opposed By Long Forces

Judge Porter claimed the nomination under existing primary law, as he was unopposed in the primary held on September 11. He campaigned actively against Long politics and was opposed by the Long forces throughout the district.

Judge Porter's opponent, Justice Winston Overton, seeking reelection with the support of Long's organization, died two days before the election and the senator refused to recognize the Lake Charles jurist as the nominee.

STOCK REPORT

New York, Sept. 26 (AP).—The rally in the stock market petered out after a further buying flurry in the first hour of trading today.

Early buying was concentrated in alcohol and public utilities, in which numerous gains of fractions to a point were registered. These were not fully maintained and by early afternoon the share list as a whole presented a picture of narrow gains and losses.

Issues up included U. S. Industrial alcohol, American commercial alcohol, U. S. Smelting, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, Public Service of New Jersey, Liggett and Myers B., and Case.

SENATOR SAVES LIFE OF MAN

Senator Hatfield, West Va., Removes Slug From Brain; May Survive.

Huntington, W. Va., Sept. 26 (AP).—A few minutes' delicate work removed a bullet from the brain of Homer Tomblin and, physicians say, gave him a new chance for life.

The 33-year-old Hart's Creek miner has lived since August 26 with part of his brain torn away and a bullet embedded in his brain. When he was injured, physicians said he could live only a few hours.

The bullet was removed by Dr. Henry D. Hatfield, United States senator, who said, "I have every reason to believe he will recover."

"I'm in your hands, Doc," Tomblin said as he was taken to the operating room. "Whatever you do will be okeh with me."

The surgeon said the bullet was buried about an inch in Tomblin's brain. It had entered the forehead, passed the inner side of the left eye through the base of the brain and lodged in the occipital or rear part of the brain.

It was removed through an incision in the back of Tomblin's head that revealed "quite a lot of discoloration" of the brain and "quite a lot of pus," said Hatfield.

Meanwhile John Perer, a resident of Cherry Tree, is held awaiting outcome of Tomblin's injuries. Deputy Sheriff J. D. Herald, of Logan county, says Perer admitted shooting Tomblin in a quarrel about a young woman.

Missing Girl Is Found Murdered

Detroit, Sept. 26 (AP).—The body of Lillian Gallaher, missing from Thursday, was found today—on her eleventh birthday—in an apartment a few blocks from her home.

The body was stuffed in a trunk. The girl had been slain, but police did not disclose at once how she had died.

James E. McCarty, deputy superintendent of police, said the apartment had been rented by a M. W. Goodrich, a trap-drummer, and that search had been started for him.

Percy Rockefeller, Nephew of J. D., Dies

New York, Sept. 26.—Percy A. Rockefeller, nephew of John D. and a capitalist of first magnitude in his own right died Tuesday.

He had been critically ill since Saturday when he underwent an operation in Doctors' hospital for a stomach ailment which had given him trouble for the last two years.

Percy Avery Rockefeller was born in New York February 27, 1878, which was some time after the migration of his parents, William and Almira Goodsell Rockefeller, from Cleveland.

In this trek eastward the William Rockefellers were but a part of that famous Standard Oil group headed by John D. William's brother, and including the Pratts, Whiteheads, and the original H. H. Rogers.

Soon after his graduation from Yale in 1900 Percy Rockefeller made it plain that his business career would be diametrically opposed to that chosen by his cousin, John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

AGENTS CHECK CONVICT STORY

Question Youth in Ohio Prison Who Says He Knew Of Kidnap Plot.

Columbus, O., Sept. 26 (AP).—George Paulin's tale he knew of a plot by Bruno Hauptmann to snatch the Lindbergh baby weeks before the kidnapping, remained unshaken—and apparently unproved—Monday night after the Ohio penitentiary prisoner spent a busy day answering questions of a department of justice agent and visiting with a younger brother.

Chapman Fletcher, a department of justice agent, was in contact throughout the day with federal officers assisting in the New York inquiry, which is centered on Hauptmann, a suspect in the famous abduction and killing.

Fletcher relayed unpublished disclosures by Paulin to New York and awaited the result of an investigation there.

Paulin, 27, under sentence for robbery from Youngstown, Ohio has said he was associated with Hauptmann in the pickpocket racket and last week declared he had received a coded note from the German ex-convict, station: "Will kidnap Lindy baby. Hope, for me."

Some Parts Fit
"I don't know if Paulin's story is true or a hoax," Fletcher said. "There are certain elements in it that fit into the Hauptmann picture. I will not know until we have finished checking in New York."

One point offered by the Ohio penitentiary prisoner's brother, Michael, 23, of Youngstown, who came to the prison Monday, Fletcher said had definitely been checked out in New York as having no pertinent relation to the case.

That was the younger brother's disclosure of the name of a New York woman he said George Paulin had told him of knowing in New York.

Paulin also furnished the federal agent with data on addresses and the layout of streets in certain New Jersey towns to buttress the claim he was formerly associated with Hauptmann.

Had Pardon Chance
If Paulin really had known the identity of the Lindbergh kidnaper he could have traded that knowledge for a pardon from the Ohio penitentiary, Governor George White disclosed. He said he promised Paulin in 1932 he would be freed if he could "materially aid in the solution" of the case.

"That offer doesn't go now," the governor added. "Paulin's talking on his own without any promise of immunity."

In Cleveland, where he is attending a convention, Warden P. E. Thomas, of Ohio penitentiary, said, "I don't think some people are any too anxious to go further with the Paulin information."

He would not say whom he meant by "some people."

Boy, 10, Killed In Auto Accident

York, Sept. 26 (AP).—Gilbert Earl Miller, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Miller, Baltimore, was killed near here Monday afternoon when a truck crashed into a car operated by the elder Miller.

The father and mother, a daughter, Estelle Marie, 13, and Mrs. Naomi Williams, 32, of Baltimore, also were injured in the crash, which took place along the Susquehanna Trail, eight miles north of York.

Mrs. Williams is confined to the York hospital with internal injuries. She is said to be in a serious condition.

The accident happened when Samuel M. Beecher, Jr., New Cumberland, driver of a heavily laden truck, swerved to avoid hitting a horse and buggy driven by Daniel Lelever, York Haven.

First Turkish Envoy To United States Dies

Istanbul, Sept. 26 (AP).—Alfred Rustem Bey, Turkey's first ambassador to the United States, who left Washington in 1914 after refusing to retract a statement objectionable to the administration, died Monday.

He was the second Turkish ambassador to America to die within a few weeks. Moukhtar Bey, who left Washington last spring, was the first.

Rustem Bey's withdrawal in 1914 created a sensation in Washington diplomatic circles. In an interview he had said the sending of American warships to Turkey following reports of uprisings against Christians would lead to a serious situation and he reminded the American people of lynchings of Negroes and "water cures"—a form of torture—in the Philippines.

Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan, at President Wilson's direction, asked Rustem Bey to refrain from such statements, which were objectionable to the administration. The ambassador informed Mr. Wilson he had not altered views expressed in the interview and would leave the United States within a fortnight.

Legend of Curse Recalled With Death of Irish Peer
Dublin, Sept. 26 (AP).—The legend of a curse—down to the seventh generation—on the ancient House of Waterford, was recalled Tuesday with the finding of the body of John Charles de la Poer Beresford, seventh Marquess of the line.

The popular 33-year-old Irish peer apparently was the victim of a firearms accident. His body was found in the gunroom of his ancestral castle at Curraghmore, home of three others of the title to meet tragic death.

The Marquess had gone on an early morning rabbit hunting trip. His gun lay beside the body.

Died Of Broken Neck
Superstitious folk of the countryside recalled that:

The third Marquess died of a broken neck while hunting; the fifth shot himself after years of suffering from spinal trouble; the sixth drowned in 1911.

Others of the family not in direct succession died suddenly. Lord Delaval Beresford was killed in a Texas train accident. Capt. de la Poer Beresford was killed trying to stop a runaway horse at Aldershot twenty years ago. Lord Marcus Beresford was found dead in bed in 1922.

attended the funeral of Mrs. Sarah Baker held at Mt. Carmel Saturday.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 26 (AP).—A Peoria truck driver and his 14-year-old son were left tied to a tree near here Tuesday by hijackers, who made away with whisky, mop handles and cellophane valued at $10,000.

The two, Robert H. Halliday and his son, Robert, were held captive by their kidnappers from shortly after 9 o'clock last night until 6 o'clock Tuesday morning. They freed themselves a half hour later and notified the sheriff.

The state banking department of Kentucky reports bank deposits increased $12,352,420 in that state during the past fiscal year.

An Evening Thought

The personal pronoun "I" should be the coat of arms of some individuals.—Rivaroli.

Out of the Past

Happenings of days gone by as chronicled in The Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times the files reveal.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Local Miscellany.—P. M. Mishler has sold his drug store on Chambersburg street to H. B. Landau, of Philadelphia, late of the Pennsylvania state hospital at Warren.

Wilson W. Krebs has moved from West Middle street extended to one of Robert Schriver's houses on East Middle street.

Wedding Bells.—Miller—Ankeny.—Harry C. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan S. Miller, of Knoxlyn, was married recently at Dixon, Illinois, to Miss Nettie G. Ankeny, of that place.

The wedding was attended by about 100 friends of the contracting parties.

The groom went west more than five years ago and settled at Dixon. Mr. and Mrs. Miller are now at the groom's parental home, where they will remain for several weeks.

A Busy Industry.—The Musselman canning factory at Biglerville is a busy industry. Eighty hands are at work canning apples, tomatoes, etc. As many as six hundred bushels of apples are put up in one day. The company has a ready sale for the product, which is shipped as fast as they are put into cans.

Elected Pastor.—Following the morning services at St. James church, Sunday, Rev. Joel Baker, pastor of the Lutheran church at Newport, Pa., was elected pastor to succeed Rev. Jacob A. Clutz, D. D. It was also decided by vote to reduce the salary from twelve to fifteen hundred dollars per year.

Mr. Baker graduated from the seminary about six years ago. He has an excellent delivery and is an able young minister. We understand he will accept the call.

Dr. Clutz Installed.—Rev. Jacob A. Clutz, D. D., recently elected to the chair of practical theology in the theological seminary, was installed on Wednesday evening. The exercises took place in the college church. The charge to the new professor was delivered by Rev. E. D. Weigle, D. D., president of the board of directors, and Dr. Clutz made a very able inaugural address, taking for his subject "A Power in the Pulpit."

College Opens.—Gettysburg college opened Thursday with 80 new students, 71 in the Freshman class. The usual stunts pertaining to the opening of college were executed.

Read the Bible With Us Daily

But Christ being come a high priest of good things to come, by a greater and more perfect tabernacle, not made with hands, that is to say, not of this building.

Neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us.

For if the blood of bulls and of goats, and the ashes of a heifer sprinkling the unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of the flesh;

How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?

And for this cause he is the mediator of the new testament, that by means of death, for the redemption of the transgressions that were under the first testament, they which are called might receive the promise of eternal inheritance.

For where a testament is, there must also of necessity be the death of the testator.

For a testament is of force after men are dead: otherwise it is of no strength at all while the testator liveth.

Whereupon neither the first testament was dedicated without blood.

Hebrews 9:11-18.

but the rough class rush was abandoned.

"The 'Sops.'" as usual, posted large sheets, giving various instructions for the new students, bills being placed all over town.

"Has Beens" Win.—The game of baseball on Thursday evening between the "Has Beens" and the regular Gettysburg team, resulted in a victory for the former team by a score of 9-8.

It was an interesting five inning contest, and the old-timers demonstrated to the many spectators that they still "know the game" and have not forgotten how to use the mits and willow.

The regular team played poor ball. Hartzell and Bream shared the box for the regulars and were hit frequently by "Has Beens." "Skinny" Gilbert delivered goods for the old-timers, holding his opponents down to five hits.

Personal.—Rev. Roy M. Dunkelberger, who graduated from theological seminary of this place last May, sailed on Thursday from New York for Guntur, India, where he expects to land about October 31, and take up work as a missionary of the Lutheran church.

J. D. Lippy attended the exhibition of the Cutters' association at Harrisburg last week.

Miss Martha McCullough, of Hagerstown, is visiting Miss Effie Horner, Cumberland township.

Misses Mary Slaybaugh and Ruth Reinecke spent several days with Mrs. Lydia Panebaker, Hanover.

Misses Mary Swope and Martha Dickson have returned home after spending several weeks in New York state.

W. L. McPherson and wife, of New York, are visiting Hon. D. P. McPherson and wife.

Misses Amy Swope and Frances Sheely left on Tuesday to enter Wilson college, at Chambersburg.

O. C. Reinecke, secretary of the Dahlstrom metallic door company, of Jamestown, New York, with offices in New York city, spent several days last week with the editor.

He accompanied his wife and daughters home in their automobile Sunday morning.

Miss Eleanor K. Richardson, of Philadelphia, and G. Wilmer Koser, of Biglerville, will be married in the Quaker Meeting House, Philadelphia, at 7:30 o'clock p. m., September 27th.

Misses Florence and Elizabeth Hersh, New Oxford, spent some time with Miss Elizabeth Cox last week.

Guyon J. Kitzmiller, of New York, spent several days with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kitzmiller, West Middle street.

Miss Elizabeth Cook has gone to Kingston, North Carolina, to spend several months.

Mr. and Mrs. George Swope, of Compton, Illinois, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Ridinger. Mr. Swope formerly lived near Orttanna and now owns a large plantation in Lee county, Illinois.

Raymond Sowers and wife, of Altoona, are visiting E. S. Faber and family.

Miss Reba Miller and Miss Edith Dorsey have left for Irving college, Mechanicsburg.

TROUBLE PASSES

Trouble passed me, where and how I can scarce remember now.

I recall the doubt and dread Of some yesterday long fled, But though life seemed fearful then Hope and joy are mine again!

Blunders angered me, but what They were now I've quite forgot. Were they as costly as they seemed? All that now has been redeemed And today I scarcely know Why I let them fret me so.

Looking back I see how fast Fate took the worries, once they're past. All the wisest mortal knows Is that trouble comes and goes. Dark the clouds above and then Shines the morning sun again.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

TOOLS

HENRY FORD recently stated in an interview to a great newspaper, that money to him had always meant but a tool with which to achieve his purpose as a builder in the world. For money in itself he felt no love and was indifferent to its possession.

Each one of us, at birth, is equipped with tools. I watched two workers the other day. Each had the same tools. One made every minute count and his work developed under his eyes, whereas the other worker, disregarded his tools and merely stumbled through his day's toil.

Victor Hugo wrote a masterpiece in "Les Miserables"—with nothing more than a quill pen! Some of the greatest of inventions were first modelled with nothing more than a file and hammer. Watt used his two eyes as tools—and discovered steam, it is said, by watching it from his mother's tea kettle!

The human brain is the greatest tool that has ever been vouchsafed to man. With it has resulted every advancement in human knowledge, invention and science. The humblest human being is endowed with this tool—to him is given the key to its possibilities—and achievements through it are limited only by his own will or desire.

One of the greatest geniuses ever born was Benvenuto Cellini. His tools consisted of his brain and skillful hands which modelled some of the greatest works of art ever created. With a little paint and a brush many have made their names immortal.

I have always been interested in the early tools—so very crude—that the early settlers in new countries used to clear the land and to establish civilization. We little know of the sacrifices endured and the hardships encountered.

We live in a wonderful age. Sometimes I think that perhaps there are too many tools handy—and not sufficient will to use them! Responsibilities are greater today than ever before in the history of the world.

The tools at hand are always the most useful—and the job nearest the most important!

MARIAN MARTIN SAYS SHIRTWAIST PAJAMAS!

Complete, Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart Included
 PATTERN 9163

The shirtmaker idea is just as smart in pajamas as in a frock—nothing more need be said. Don't you think this trim outfit would be just grand for lounging about of a cold winter's evening? The casual blouse may be made either with long or short sleeves—and if you choose the long, you'll just adore the fullness at the wrists. The darts at the waist of the trousers, front and back, give plenty of room for comfort and at the same time keep them from being bulky. It's a swagger design in printed cottons, but it would be just as charming in a bright jersey especially if it were made with a contrasting vest and collar.

Pattern 9163 may be ordered only in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 4½ yards 36-inch fabric.

Send fifteen cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address the style, number and size of each pattern.

The winter issue of the Marian Martin pattern book is now off the press. It is big fashion news... filled with stunning and easy-to-make patterns for street and house dresses, blouses, skirts, lingerie, sports clothes... all the essentials of a smart outfit for matron, maiden or little child. Price of book fifteen cents. Book and pattern together twenty-five cents.

To Revive Custom of Paying For Land Grant With Arrows

Baltimore, Sept. 26.—His Majesty George V, King of England, is going to get some back rent due the family. The rent will be started to its destination on the final night of the Tercentenary pageant to be given at the Stadium on October 5 and 6.

When George Calvert, the first Lord Baltimore, got his land grant from Charles I, it was agreed that the king should be paid a yearly quit rent of two arrow-heads.

On the word of Matthew Page Andrews, chairman of the Tercentenary commission, the rent was cheap because there hardly was a morning that went by that somebody in the little settlement of St. Mary's didn't take a walk and come back with a couple of arrows.

For 140 years the Lords Baltimore kept sailing arrows over to England, but in 1775 it was decided that all the arrows were needed for sailing at the king's soldiers.

Mr. Andrews decided that the Tercentenary celebration would be a good time to revive the old quit rent practice, just as a touch of sentiment, as it were. So a local jewelry company looked over about one hundred arrows at the Maryland Academy of Sciences and picked out two likely models and then fashioned their counterpart in silver.

CUT THIS OUT EXCELLENT RECIPE FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrh of the Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. Scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers.

Secure from People's Drug Store or your druggist 1 ounce of Parment (Double strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parment used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.

And just like the good old days when the quit-rent-paying business was a serious matter, the arrow-heads will be presented to his Majesty on the Tuesday before Easter.

George H. Calvert, Jr., of Washington, a direct descendant of the first Lord Baltimore, will take the part of his ancestor at the pageant and after receiving the arrows will dispatch them to Sir Timothy Eden, in England, himself a direct descendant of Sir Robert Eden, the last Lord Baltimore. Sir Timothy will present the rent to the king with good wishes and a promise that come 2034 maybe a like payment will be made.

Man Loses Case Defending Self

Chambersburg, Pa., Sept. 26.—Elected to defend himself rather than pay the fee of an attorney, Frank Keckler, of Waynesboro, was convicted in the Franklin county criminal court here, of possessing illegal liquor, and today faces the alternative of paying a $300 fine or serving six months in jail.

George S. Black was assigned Keckler as counsel, when he appeared in court for trial without an attorney. After a consultation of Black with his client, the attorney reported to Judge Watson R. Davidson that Keckler had money but refused to advance the customary fee. The court then relieved Black of the assignment, and Keckler assumed the dual role of defendant and attorney.

The usual argument of counsel to the jury was dispensed with, the court summing up the case in his charge.

AMUSEMENTS

MAJESTIC

Warner Bros.' latest musical spectacle "Dames," which comes to the Majestic theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday, carries an unusually large cast headed by six stars. And in addition to the principals, there are 300 of Hollywood's chorus girls, who appear in the novel Busby Berkeley ensembles, besides hundreds of extras.

Joan Blondell heads the list of principals, playing the part of a gold digging chorine while Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler provide the romantic interest, the two screen lovers appearing opposite each other for the fourth time in pictures.

The other stars include Zasu Pitts, who has a comedy role as Ruby's mother, Guy Kibbee in the role of her husband and Hugh Herbert as an eccentric millionaire who promises to leave them his fortune on condition that they prove to be a fine moral fiber.

Others in the cast include Arthur Vinton, Phil Regan, radio's "Singing Cop," Sammy Fain, song writer, Arthur Aylesworth, Johnny Arthur, Leila Bennett and Berton Churchill.

The picture is a mammoth musical comedy spectacle with comedy situations and a stage romance. Catchy music and lyrics were written for the specialty numbers by three teams of song writers, Warren and Dubin, Fain and Kahal, and Dixon and Wrubel. Ray Enright directed the picture.

MARIAN GORDON

by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Marian Gordon, reporter for the Morning Dispatch, just has returned from hearing the jury's "not guilty" which frees William Brown, of accepting a bribe for passing defective work on a new high school building. Now she learns that her schoolmate, the beautiful if tricky Silver, Gordon has been granted a Reno divorce from Cliff Gordon, and that Gordon has shot himself. Marian is to go by plane to Reno to break the news to Silver, and get a story. Marian is explaining to her roommate, Anne.

Chapter Five
RENO

"What sort of a chap is Gordon?" asked Anne.

"Fine fellow as far as I know," returned Marian, "a little erratic, maybe. Always had more money than was good for him. Good looking, crew man on the U Varsity, Silver took me to the races one year."

"Think it was his fault she applied for a divorce?"

"Probably, in so far that he'd give her anything she wanted, like all the rest of us. She has the most unholy way of taking the things one loves most and making the giver glad he's giving. I haven't seen her since her wedding, but I understand he spoiled her like everyone else. There, how do you like the new dress?"

Marian had donned a lilac colored angora frock, pulled a beige angora hat over her hair and slipped into a beige lapin swaggar coat.

"Stunning," declared Anne with enthusiasm. "I'm so glad you're getting some sense about clothes. You should take a few tips from this Silver friend of yours. Lon's the kind of a fellow every woman's bound to make a try for, and you're going to have to learn you can't always depend upon your hair and eyes to get you by. You're too practical, you and your plain tailored clothes."

"That from you," chided Marian, "you and your uniforms."

"But my Albert's a doctor and I'm only a nurse. Besides I have dimples. With those I could save a man's life and never be given credit for it. There's a horn . . . and the buzzer. Here are your gloves . . . need any cash?" Anne followed her to the door. "Oh, and Ian, if Gordon holds his own, he'll be under my care, they won't take a chance on moving him tonight."

Marian found the cab at the curb, Estes and his camera inside. "And just as I pulled the quilt up to my chin," he was lamenting, "brr went the telephone."

"You were lucky," laughed Marian stowing her bag alongside his camera. "My chin hasn't seen a quilt for so long, it would probably think it was an eclipse of the moon."

As the cab careened around the corner Estes spoke. "Say Ian, what's this yarn about. I thought this marriage was one of those made-in-Heaven affairs."

"It was, but they didn't keep it there and this hemisphere is rough on marital unions."

"Another woman?"

"I don't think Cliff knew there were other women."

"Another man, then?"

"N-no," she paused as the cab shot into the estuary tube and wheeled along the floor of the bay so fast the signal lights ran into a single flare of red, blue and green. "No," she repeated as they came out on the island, "people are divorced for other reasons."

"Not really," chortled Estes. "If they are us newsmen don't hear about them."

The cab skimmed the tree-lined avenues, crossed a bridge and scurried along a dyke that rimmed the bay-shore. To the left the airport buildings blazed like a fiesta city, and in the field, small ships arose and settled like queer species of night-flying moths.

They pulled up before the terminal, rushed into the building where their tickets awaited them, then out onto the field where the tri-motor express waited in the tremulous glow of flood lights.

Marian felt a pulse of excitement beat in her throat. The sheer beauty of the silver ship with its wide-spread wings, the roar of power from the testing motors, erased the shabby scene of the court room and the later news of the tragedy from her mind.

She settled back into the comfortable seat, adjusted her belt for ease on the upward swing of the ship, heard the sharp slam of the cabin door, saw the co-pilot in the control cabin. She accepted cotton for her ears from the trim stewardess in olive drab, then looked about her.

Estes was leaning forward, gazing past her towards the blaze of terminal lights—"Look," he cried, "there's a guy trying to make the ship."

Marian turned quickly just in time to see a field attendant clutch the coat of a man who had darted out of the building into the danger zone.

She had a swift vision of his face as they taxied along the runway. The man was Lionel Casad.

The air field and the gesticulating man seemed to drop away from the plane as Marian pressed her face to the cabin window. Her first reaction upon recognizing Lon Casad, was amazement that she had forgotten her engagement with him the following evening. She hadn't even left word that she wouldn't be there.

And then came wonder at his presence on the airfield. Had he received a call from home and was flying east? But no he would have gone south to Los Angeles, first, then east. But why . . . and how . . . she looked down as though she

Japan and Russia Agree on R. R. Sale

Tokyo, Sept. 24 (AP).—It was officially announced Sunday that Koki Hirota, foreign minister, and Dr. Constantine Yourenoff, Russian ambassador, have agreed upon the price for transfer of Soviet Russia's half-share in the Chinese Eastern railway to Manchukuo.

Fundamental conditions of the transfer also have been agreed upon, it was announced, thereby solving an issue which for three years has carried the most dangerous threat of any single factor pointing toward a Russo-Japanese war.

The price was not officially disclosed, but it was learned on excellent authority that Manchukuo will pay 140,000,000 yen ($4,600,000) for the railway, plus discharge al-

Wheat and Buckshot Rout Washington College Hazers

Chestertown Md., Sept. 26 (AP).—Forty Washington college freshmen chucked into their potential beads here Tuesday night, and waited for the sophomores to make the next move.

Early Tuesday, these forty freshmen had been taken, blindfolded, to a deserted house across the Chester river bridge, by a band of upper classmen, and the stage was set for some good, old-fashioned hazing. The frosh were to be barricaded and locked in the house and left to shift for themselves, until they could escape and find their way home.

Overlook Farm Guard

But the sophomores had overlooked an important point—and a load of double-barreled shot, fired into the air together with a few handfuls of wheat, suddenly brought the omission to mind.

Fortunately for the frosh, and unfortunately for the sophs, the path to the deserted house cut directly across the property of the oldest and best-guarded poultry farm in the United States, where shot-guns and machine-gun nests lie ceaselessly in wait for intruders. And since the collegians resembled intruders rather than chickens, the poultry guards went into action promptly.

Sentinel Fires Shot

As a sentinel fired a shot in the air, to inform other watchmen, one of his mates threw several handfuls of wheat at the legs of the leaders of the hazing party, and the upper-classmen dissolved into nearby thickets, marshes, and even into the placid waters of the neighboring river.

When Neal and Claude Truslow, owners of the farm, were routed from bed by the guards, they called off the dogs, removed the blindfolds from the dazed—but unhazed—lowances for soviet employees estimated at 30,000,000 yen ($8,700,000) additional.

This amount, approximating $50,000,000 halves the difference in the last offers of both sides prior to a deadlock in negotiations reached last month.
